The construction of the models Protect and Protect Plus is based on the sandwich principle, in order to absorb and spread any occurring hit and pushforces.

A hard foam shell is worked in to the protector on the outside of the occipital area. This is hit and splinter resistant, to absorb and spread any occurring forces in case of a backward impact.

The Protect, as well as Protect Plus, are made of high quality full-grainleather, and are fastened securely and firmly, by chin and neck straps. The fastening can be chosen, depending on the indication.

The protective effect in the cranium area is accomplished by longitudinal braces (open version), or through the closed perforated cap, made of shockabsorbing high-tech foam.

Choose from various leather colours – our high quality standards apply also for our coloured leather!

The calfskin used for the internal lining is perforated. Thereby it is breathable, regulates heat and humidity and is very skin-friendly.

The Starlight® Protect-Evo builds on our experience with the Starlight® Protect and Protect Plus. The back-of-the-head area is extensively equipped with double-glued high-tech foam. The foam is ergonomically adapted to the shape of the back of the head. The preformed back-of-the-head area provides even more protection, especially for users who are at risk from uncontrolled fall directions. Impact forces are optimally absorbed and distributed.

The round shape of the ear straps guarantees an optimal fit of the chinstrap. The chinstrap can be easily adapted to the head shape of the user due to its free mobility on the ear strap. This guarantees the perfect fit of the head protection.

The protective effect in the upper head area is achieved by longitudinal and transverse braces made of shock-absorbing high-tech foam.

The thickness of the forehead protection is 1.5 cm.

Impressively lightweight protection

The Starlight[®] Generation models are padded with high-efficiency polyurethane foam. The reduced volume that characterises this head protection is made possible by the materials used. The protective effect is fully preserved.

Thus the Starlight[®] Generation models look more like "normal headwear" (e.g. cap, hat) and avoid the often stigmatising appearance of head protection.

The selected materials and cut guarantee optimal fit for lightweight protection.

The Starlight[®] Generation models can be optionally fitted with a fixed or removable chinstrap.

It is possible to jazz up the Starlight[®] Generation Felt cap model with various accessories.

The selected materials and cut shapes guarantee an optimal fit and a good fit for the "light" protective effect.

The head protection can optionally also be offered with 6 mm foam without a large amount of padding becoming visible.

The acceptance of the head protection is increased by the fashionable and cheeky appearance. The upper material of the bobble hat is made of knitted fabric. The edge made of genuine lambskin is also padded with high-tech foam.

Starlight[®] Generation

The women's and men's hats from the Starlight[®] Generation series were created to offer an alternative to people who are at risk of falling and therefore have an increased risk of head injury, but where light head protection is completely sufficient.

The models can be customised in terms of colour. Smaller applications (such as flower motifs) are also possible on all models for a small surcharge. The high-tech foam used for the protection has a thickness of 3 mm. Optionally, a foam thickness of 6 mm can be used.

For the outer material, felt with exclusive knitted or woollen fabric is used for the models for the fashion-conscious lady. Jersey is used for the inner lining. Coarse woollen fabric or felt is used for the upper material in the model for men.

Starlight Measurement
head protection

In this video tutorial, we show you how to take correct measurements for your head protection order.

Precise measurements:
What is required?

Until now it was not possible to wear the head protection when bathing/showering, or for therapeutic purposes or water based leisure activities. Practice shows however, that also in these areas protection of the head is very important. Therefore the head protection Starlight® Aqua was solely designed for this area.

The padding of the Aqua consists of a special integral foam, which is soft and elastic and therefore shock absorbent. Thanks to the careful selection of materials a high wearing comfort is achieved. The many positive properties of the neoprene used (high dynamic load capacity, weather and ozone resistance, high elasticity and impact resilience as well as resilience against fungi and bacteria, quick-drying, waterproof, easy to clean and disinfect etc.) makes this head protection a valuable aid.

Through the anatomical shape the entire head is protected. The adjustability of the chin strap and upper head ensures that the head protection is neither too tense nor too loose.

The cleaning of the head protection is also no problem by hand washing up to 30°.
